To Whom It May Concern:

On behalf of Huntsman Cancer Foundation (HCF) I am providing this letter assuring the reader that the Anne Stirba Cancer Foundation is an important and valued philanthropy partner in funding breast cancer research at Huntsman Cancer Institute (HCI). Thanks to this partnership, breast cancer research is accelerated at HCI beyond what HCF could fund alone.

HCF is grateful to partner with Peter Stirba, the Board of the Anne Stirba Cancer Foundation, and its Executive Director, Shauna Samuelson, in our shared dream of eradicating breast cancer altogether. The fundraising initiatives of the Anne Stirba Cancer Foundation augment and increase the overall efforts of Huntsman Cancer Foundation.

HCF is the fundraising arm of HCI in funding lifesaving cancer research. Founded in 1995 by its principal benefactors, Jon M. and Karen Huntsman, 100% of donations made to HCF support the lifesaving work of the cancer institute. Thanks to generous underwriting support from the Jon M. Huntsman family, 100% of your donation goes directly to support HCI, with no amounts deducted for overhead or fundraising expenses. HCF carefully evaluates and selects fundraising partners such as the Anne Stirba Cancer Foundation to increase our donor reach and to increase our effectiveness in securing vital support. Since the beginning of this partnership, an additional $322,000.00 has been made available to breast cancer research at HCI, because of the Anne Stirba Cancer Foundation.

Should you have any questions about this fundraising relationship, please do not hesitate to call me directly at (801) 584-5807.

Warm regards,
